SIXTEEN MEN NOW LOST IN POLAR WASTE

By ERICK BERNSEN,
United Press Staff Correspondent
KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 22.—(U.P.)—Airmen, ships and dogteams of five nations were directed tonight toward rescue of sixteen men lost on the waste of Polar ice.

Ronald Amundsen, South Pole discoverer and the men with him in a giant French seaplane, have been missing since Monday when they left Tromsø to search for General Umberto Nobile, commander of the wrecked dirigible Italia.

Seven men of the Italia's crew have not been heard from since the ill-fated dirigible crashed on the ice and they were carried away in the torn balloon before a gale, May 25.

Three men who left Nobile's party three weeks ago to attempt to walk to land, are lost.

Amundsen's situation has aroused grave anxiety, for he carried wireless and had arranged to report to Kings Bay and Bear Island at fixed intervals. No word has come from him.

Major Umberto Maddalena, who found Nobile and dropped him supplies, and Major Penzo, commander of the second Italia airplane here, returned at 3:25 p. m. today from a flight over Nobile's (Continued on Page Eight)

The plane was undamaged in the forced landing.

Lindbergh circled over Pitston about 15 minutes before deciding where to land. The field usually used for landing purposes was occupied by an open air camp for children and the colonel sought another spot.

He was flying his Ryan biplane and was unaccompanied.

He is expected to resume his flight in the morning.

Mayor Phil Lee of El Cerrito and Miss Grace Moses, 67 Sequoia avenue, Berkeley, accountant who made the Hinds audit, received their first news of the $25,000 libel suit against them last night when informed of the action by the RECORD-HERALD.

"I wish him (Hinds) a lot of luck," was the comment of Miss Grace Moses. "I'm not losing any sleep over the suit. My audit was made in accordance with the records and I am confident that my audit will be legally upheld."

The accountant declared that she could take no cognizance of explanations in making an audit.

"All I know about the suit is what has been published," declared Mayor Lee when the RECORD-HERALD last night told him the suit had been filed.

Both Miss Moses and Mayor Lee are awaiting official notification that suit has been filed against them, following which it is expected they will retain legal counsel.

Parr Cites Progress Of Harbor Here

Advancement of the local harbor project under the administration of the Parr-Richmond Terminal corporation was yesterday cited in an address made by Fred Parr before members of the Rotary club.

He stated that construction of the Ford plant here undoubtedly will go forward early next spring when the fill has settled sufficiently to permit building operations.

In regard to plans of the Southern Pacific company, the president of the Parr-Richmond Terminal corporation declared the railroad officials were convinced there was now sufficient tonnage in sight in the inner harbor to warrant the building of a two mile spur from Stege station to the inner harbor.

Wharf activity has increased 36 per cent in the first five months of this year over the same period in 1927, according to Parr.

A glowing tribute was paid by Parr to the work accomplished by Congressman Curry in behalf of local harbor development.

OAK PAPER IS BELIEVED HIT IN LIBEL SUIT

STANTON, June 22.—A damage suit for $25,000 was filed today by Hinds against W. A. Hinds, former El Cerrito police judge, in connection with the recent auditing of accounts.

Defendants in the suit are Mayor Phil Lee of El Cerrito, Grace Moses, Berkeley, accountant who made the audit, and a newspaper designated as the "John Doe Publishing company."

T. B. Johnston, attorney for Hinds who filed the suit, tonight refused to reveal the identity of the newspaper named in the action, although reports are current that it is an Oakland newspaper.

Johnston declared it may be necessary to name the journal in a later amended brief.

The suit, Johnston declared, is predicated on newspaper articles purporting to quote Mayor Phil Lee in connection with recent charges that accounts of Hinds, audited in April after the official was ousted by the El Cerrito council, showed that more than $700 collected in his court was not turned in to the city treasurer.

Hinds vehemently denied there was any error in his accounts, other than $5, and he tendered a check for this amount to the city council. It has not been accepted.

Hinds employed J. O. Ford, Richmond accountant, to check his books after the audit by Miss Moses and Ford found an amount of $5 that had not been paid to the city. Hinds promptly tendered his check.

Hinds served as police judge at El Cerrito for six years, but when the new council was seated he was replaced with J. D. Plank.

"The suit charges that Hinds standing in the community and his character have been damaged by the allegations made against him," Johnston declared.

"When Ford's audit was made and a report submitted to the council the members expressed themselves as satisfied with the explanation. Lee, as commissioner of finance, Hinds claims wrote him a letter on May 2 stating that the audit by Miss Moses showed that he collected $719.75 which was not deposited with the treasurer. In this letter, Hinds says, Lee demanded that the former judge account for that sum and deposit it with the city treasurer."

She peeped through a drawing room door when the young man failed to appear. Opening the door she caused a bit of confusion, while she herself was convulsed with laughter over the antics of the three.

CRISIS NEAR IN BELGRADE RIOT AS DEATH TOLL MOUNTS TO FIVE

ZAGREB, June 22.—(U.P.)—The situation was tense here tonight with five dead and 14 seriously injured in rioting which followed the killing in Belgrade parliament of two Croation deputies, Paul Ratich and Djura Bassarick, by the radical Montenegrin Ponica Ratich.

Authorities were appealing to the populace to keep calm.

It was learned from Belgrade, meanwhile, that the Croation deputies had arranged to leave parliament as a protest and no longer to recognize the government.

The bodies of the dead-deputies, accompanied by a large delegation of Croation members of the parliament arrived here. Fifteen thousand persons were crowded about the station.

Stephen Radich, brother of Paul who was also shot, is in a critical condition in a Belgrade hospital. Complications have developed.

REFINERY MAY BE BUILT HERE BY RICHFIELD

Belief that the Richfield Oil company will ultimately establish a refinery at Richmond, was voiced here following its purchase of the local Poheny interests.

Everything points to an expansion program in Richmond, according to Fred Parr, president of the Parr-Richmond Terminal corporation who returned yesterday from a conference in Los Angeles with Richfield Oil company officials.

Holding 247 acres of waterfront land here in its own name, the conclusion is drawn that the logical point for a refinery, when the need arises, will be Richmond. Oakland, where the company holds a 15 year lease on Parr property, is in a less favorable position than is Richmond, so far as expansion programs are concerned.

It is expected that the Richfield company will apply to the local council Monday night for transfer of the 50 year lease held by the Poheny interests on three and a half acres of waterfront property.

Pending the transfer of properties, it is reported that the local terminal will be inactive, although the present building program will continue.

Parr, on his arrival here yesterday from Los Angeles, declared that C. M. Fuller, vice-president and director of operations for the Richfield company, stated in behalf of his company that it would "build bigger and stronger than ever." No detailed information of the Richfield company's new policy regarding the local terminal could be obtained, since the transfer had just been announced.

Searchers Quit Hunt For Body Of S. F. Actress

Belief that Mrs. Jean Brandon, San Francisco actress, drowned early Tuesday in a yachting accident near Benicia was drawn to the bottom of Carquinez straits by the current and swept into the water bay, caused searchers in Southamp ton bay to abandon their efforts to locate the body with grappling hooks.

Sheriff Jack Thornton decided that further dragging at this point was useless. He conferred with Ray Brandon, husband of the victim, in Benicia.

The opinion that Mrs. Brandon's body will come to the surface near Carquinez bridge, three miles below was expressed by Tom Connolly, seaman.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME

Julie Says—

The fairly large hat is in the ring of summer popularity. And the style is good sense besides being smart for its cooling shade seems to give its wearer a dignity and poise on a sweltering day especially with a sheer frock. The hat sketched is adaptable and adjustable for any type of figure the size varying with your height. It is of leghorn trimmed and faced with black velvet. A hat harmonious with any type or color of frock. Beginning at the left are some new shoes I have seen—the very low heeled patent leather pump with an effective strap. A brown suede two-strap oxford trimmed with lizard. A tie oxford of patent leather trimmed with chinchilla kid. At right an evening shoe of navy more with a gold, fulara, heel and strap. A printed silver metal trimmed with silver kid and a strap with a rhinestone clasp. A cut-out sandal combining rose crepe and brocade metal.

VISITOR TO RETURN

Mrs. Katie Spackerman, who has been residing with her daughter, Mrs. Mary Bright, and family of 435 Ripley avenue, will leave soon for Utah where she will spend the summer. She expects to return to Richmond and spend the winter with her daughter.

BEAUTY

BY LAURA LANE

Hands are such a giveaway of our advancing years that it behooves us to make every effort to keep them graceful and smooth. Such are the hands of youth.

Here is an exercise that will help keep them supple and youthful: lay your arm in a table with the forearm up, the fingers spread out flat, and then try to bring each finger down to meet the thumb, making an O each time, without moving the thumb. It will take several attempts before you will be successful, as there is a great pull on the muscles of the hand and arm.

Use an oily cleansing cream on your hands and dry given to "cracking" and dry soaking them in warm olive oil two or three times a week. For hands stained by housework, lemon juice mixed with glycerine will act as a bleach and softener.

I don't know whether I have any right to demand your attention—you see, I'm a mere man and as such, make no claim to beauty! But if you can tell me anything to keep my face from getting raw and sore every time I shave, I'll stop bleaching long enough to try it. And if it's successful, I'll be your most

ARDENT READER

I assure you, Mr. Ardent Reader (maybe), that I am delighted to hear from you. Your modesty is becoming, and I think your face will be more beautiful if you use the following lotion after shaving: boil a dram of quince seeds in a pint of soft water, to which, after it has been allowed to remain at the boiling point some time, add three teaspoonfuls of boric acid powder, and the same amount of glycerine. Rub a few drops over the face after shaving.

RECOVERS FROM OPERATION

W. B. Trull, Richmond, of the Santa Fe railroad company, has returned from a trip of ten days to Los Angeles where he underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils at the Santa Fe hospital. He was accompanied by Mrs. Trull.

THE NEW EVIL

Mq, what a wonderful gown! Your husband must be getting generous.

Not exactly! I told him I'd vote his ticket if he'd buy me a new gown.

NEW ROSE SUGGESTED

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(U.S.)—Agriculture department horticultural experts recommend to American rose-growers in mid-Atlantic "Belle Portugaise," a most beautiful rose, bearing a big flower with delicate pink petals flushed with yellow at the base. The rose was brought from Portugal by department experts, and has become quite popular in California in the last few years. It is reported as vigorous, free from mildew, and free-blooming.

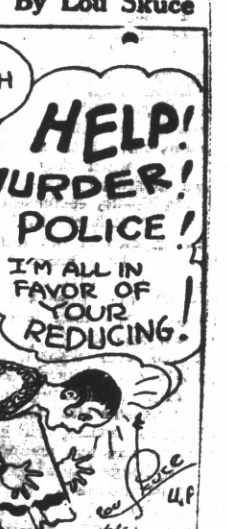

Disinfect—About 15 or 20 ears of figs will be shipped from here a season.

After enjoying the delicious cakes, salads, marshmallows and barbecued steaks, a merry time was had when the presentation of a large box to B. F. Betterton was made by the young people. The occasion was Betterton's birthday and all crowded around to see what the gift might be. Mr. Betterton did not realize how much unwrapping was to be done before he would reach the treasure, for it was wrapped in numbers of papers and buried in several boxes placed one in the other. However, it was well worth the work as it proved to be a handsome fountain pen. Betterton was delighted and expressed his appreciation in a speech which he delivered.

WEST COAST SCRIP, AN IDEAL GIFT
SOMETHING ALWAYS HAPPENS

REAL NEW YORK IS DEPICTED IN O'BRIEN MOVIE

The New York Times has called "East Side West Side" by Captain Felix Rosenbloom, an epic of Manhattan life.

In the same way, the Fox Film Corporation, now being shown at the California Theatre, is a true epic of the film world. Allan Dwan has lost none of the rugged sincerity which was the distinguishing characteristic of the book.

It is the kind of picture which has long been needed to give the world an authentic conception of New York, for the people in the small towns have grown to think of it almost entirely in terms of night clubs, Broadway theatres and the final gaiety of Coney Island.

The Ghetto, with the chaotic jumble of brass shops, push carts and the Hebrew types, has remained practically unknown. So also, has the shifting procession of barges, great liners and small craft that piles back and forth on its rivers.

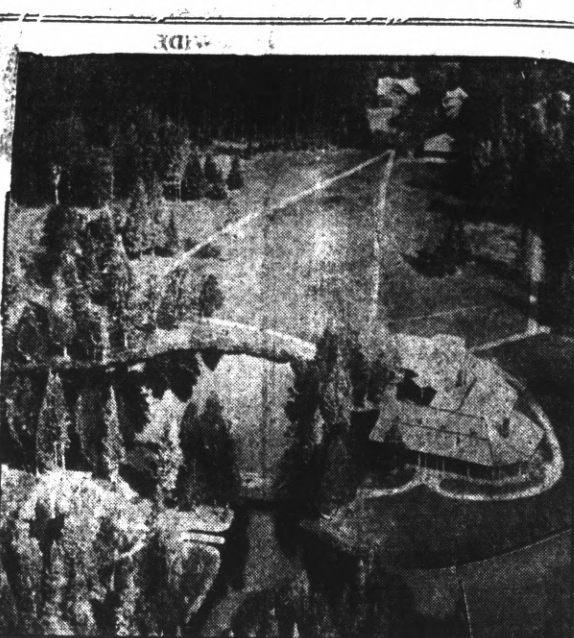

Now and then a picture is required which shows fairly accurately some one phase of the city but never before has the vast panorama which extends from the Battery to the Bronx been unfolded on any screen.

"East Side West Side" as a book and as a picture, has tried honestly to do the very thing. It has what so many books and pictures lack completely—the background of a really big idea, and the additional merit of a strong plot to build against it.

An exceptional cast presents the dramatic Eisenberg story with feeling and rare truth to detail. George Obrien and Virginia Vall are the principals.

Other film features include "Putting the Pants on Philip" and "News."

DRAMA OF SEA NOW SHOWING AT RICHMOND

"The Haunted Ship" a Tiffany-Stahl production was the feature picture attraction which was at the Richmond Theatre yesterday for the first time. The story was suggested from one of the famous Jack London tales of the sea, "White and Yellow" and brings to life in graphic detail one of the most absorbing sea dramas seen here in some time.

A more than brilliant cast portray the principal roles in the production which was very well directed and photographed exquisitely. The players included the beautiful Dorothy Sebastian, Montagu Love, Tom Satchell, Ray Hallow, Pat Harrison, Alice Lake, Blue Washington and Sojin.

The story which enthralls and holds one with breathless interest tells of two men, a Captain of a five masted schooner and his first mate who have been friends for many years, both having loved the same girl, but who was won by the Captain. After more than five years of wedded life in which the son had been born, the Captain becomes suspicious of his being the father of the boy. A terrific fight ensues—one of the best ever seen on the screen—and the mate overpowered is made a prisoner, while the mother and her boy are set adrift in an open boat. The mate still holds a prisoner in the hold of the ship, is beaten daily to confess, but remains adamant. How the Captain meets the boy he thinks has died with his mother and his revenge on the stranded show girl who is the star performer in an island dance hall, and the tremendously dramatic climax, keeps one on the qui vive until the final fadeout. It is an outstanding screen production.

Other film features include "The King of the Jungle, No. 4" Snapshots No. 24.

SYNOPSIS
A satchel containing $200,000 has been stolen from the Mercer National Bank. Rose Shannon, escaping from the unsuspicious clutches of Chuck White, the Boss of the Bowery, picks up the satchel in the street. On her way to return it she meets a policeman who arrests her. The satchel is found and it is found that Rose Shannon has been stolen and is now in the hands of a notorious criminal, the Professor, leader of the gang of crooks to which Chuck belongs. He is furious at Rose's scheme for stealing the money. Rose is killed. He questions Chuck about Rose and learns they were together, earlier, in the evening.

"What about it?" Hemmway sneered. "Why, you poor sap! That dame was simply putting one over on you, kid. Where was it she knocked you cold?"
"Up to her place," Chuck acknowledged, a little uneasily.
"Up at her place! How many times had you been there before this?"
"Say, I tell you this baby's no Molly. She's just a kid. I been playing around with her for a couple of weeks before she even gimme a tumble." Chuck returned angrily. "An' tonight she takes me up to her place, an'—an', well, she beats me."

"Oh, my God!" the Professor moaned. "If I had your brains I'd go and get some sand in my eye and make peace. Why, you big gorilla! Don't you get it yet! Tonight

Seconds dragged into minutes, minutes into hours, and hours into age-long days, and again, while Rose paced the cold stone floor of her gray walled prison cell in the women's ward. The deathly, pallid silence was broken only now and again by the clanging of the iron bars, as some new occupant came to share her solitary confinement, or release was brought to some more fortunate victim. Scarcely was there a glimmer of light from the dimming of the electric lights, Rose slept fitfully, crying when she awoke, for the oblivion of sleep was her only escape from the tortured agony that beset her.

During the first two days after that fatal night reporters came and went, following the muffled footsteps of the white-aproned maids. Rose could hear them coming from far down the narrow corridor—the matron leading the way, her keys clinking dully as she walked; then the sharper click of heels behind her. Standing before the iron bars that shut her from the outside world, they would stare at her with questions, only to be met with the blankness of her first story.

Sob-sisters arrived and patted her hand and asked her about life in the Tenderloin; her dancing in the days at Kelly's; her childhood in the country. They came, expecting to find a bobbed-headed bandit, hard of face and uncouth in talk, and were away to write of haunting blue eyes and hair as golden that not even the dimness of a cell could dispel its glory. They wrote the old, old story of the lure of the white lights of Broadway and its commonplace ending.

And then these visits ceased as new crimes appeared on the docket and new faces behind the barred doors. But they were followed by long hours of grilling, unceasing questioning. The night became a thing of terror. At any moment she might hear the soft patter of the matron's feet and her clinking bunch of keys. And then she would be led through corridor after corridor and harsh light of a cell room where the harsh lights, her matted hair, and the never-ending examinations racked her brain.

In the midst of all the fear and terror that clung to her heart, and that was that as long as she remained here she was safe from the pursuit of Chuck and his possible revenge. What she could reach through her mind she could almost look on the dark walls, with the shadows flung from the iron bars, feeling coldly across them with a friendly hand, she could reach out her hand and touch them with something akin to comfort.

Perhaps, however, Rose might not have felt even this slight comfort had she seen the activities of Maury and Harry, stool pions and doers with the law past. Throughout the Tenderloin the story ran that at one time he had circulated among the most exclusive circles of New York society, with a future great criminal lawyer before him. And then came his slow, but fatal descent; then a stretch up the river, and now his services could be purchased only through the medium of the soliciting needle.

Daily Maury frequented his accustomed resorts, gleaming his incriminating. Nightly at Johnny, the Chin's, he was seen, and he was a magoria of strange beast the world about him, he recounted his activities. Known throughout the Underworld to be no man's man, he played his game cleverly—so cleverly that policemen and gangsters, detectives and gorillas, took and gave helpful communications. But in the case of Rose Shannon, even Maury could gain no knowledge save that she was still being held and grilling, all to no purpose.

And then one evening the girl was led out of her cell by the matron in charge, to traverse that intricate route that led to the interview room of the Tombs. Only six days had passed, but to Rose it might as well have been six months or six years.

TAMMANY HALL CHIEF ARRIVES FOR CONCLAVE

By RAYMOND CLAPPER — United Press Staff Correspondent
HOUSTON, Tex., June 22.—(U.P.)—With the bearing of a conquering general, supremely confident of impending victory yet repelled to be generous to his opponents, the big chief of Tammany hall, George W. Olvany, arrived here with his general staff today.

"We are here to nominate another Abraham Lincoln from the sidewalks of New York," he announced as he stepped from the train.

Olvany arrived at the height of the excitement over Governor Al Smith's statement in New York that he holds strongly to his opinion that the Volstead act should be modified, so that the states can determine their own alcoholic content.

At the same time, it became known from close friends of Governor Smith that the New York group will be entirely satisfied, however, with a strong law enforcement plank similar to or stronger than that adopted by the Republicans at Kansas City.

Governor Smith favors modification of the Volstead act and has frankly reiterated this view on the eve of the convention. But he does not insist that the party go on record in its platform for modification, it is understood, reliably. His friends doubt, however, if he would run on a plank opposing modification. But there appears little likelihood that such a position will be taken. Democratic leaders from such a frank wet as Norman Mack, to such a dry Senator as Pat Harrison of Mississippi, are agreed that the party should adopt only a law enforcement plank.

The feeling is general among some here that Smith's reiteration on his wet views at this time has made it harder for some of the drys to climb on his band wagon, but many also believe that he has cleared the air and taken the more courageous course.

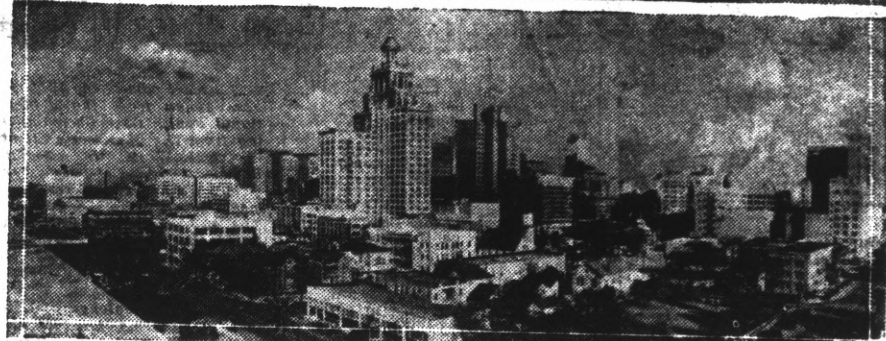

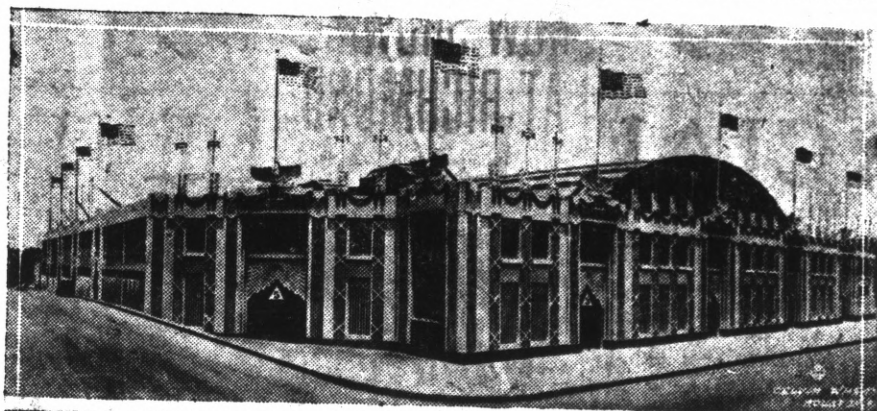

The chief dissenting voices came from a small room in one corner of the Rice hotel annex where a little group of dry women held their noon-day prayer service. They will pray until the convention is over for some miracle to prevent the nomination of Governor Smith. They plan an all day prayer service Monday, the day before the convention. Governor Moody of Texas is expected to arrive Sunday to lead the dry fight against Governor Smith. He is the only conspicuous Democratic figure definitely grouped in this movement, however.

The other focal point of anti-Smith activity, Senators James A. Reed of Missouri, arrived today. He declares prohibition is not an issue—that the party has bigger fish to fry.

But he is regarded by the dry women as being just as wet as Smith—and equally unacceptable. There is only the most remote chance of any working coalition between Reed and the dry forces. It is this inability of the drys to mass behind any truly available figure that makes the Smith forces so confident.

They are, however, moving carefully, especially since the statement made by Norman Mack which causes a temporary commotion.

Hollywood

By GEORGE S. BEALE

United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, June 9.—Alice White, First National's newest featured player, is now in the midst of the greatest costuming spree of her life to date.

She has just returned to the studio after a brief vacation. Meanwhile, preparations for filming her first feature vehicle "Show Girl" have been going on at the big Burbank studios, and Miss White is spending long hours being fitted to costumes.

Her first feature role will be "costumed" as elaborately, in points of number of dresses, their quality and striking originality as any ever presented on the screen. "Show Girl" offers unusual opportunities for the use of a wide variety of clothes.

Ah, ah, blondes, consider this: The films do not prefer you—so stay as you are.

Say, if you will, that the silver screen is no gentleman, but such is the case. Blooming processes are entirely unnecessary for the aspirant to stardom.

Neither, however, does the screen choose brunettes, according to Fred Niblo, director.

Niblo was asked which he considered better actresses for the films, blondes or brunettes, and he replied:

"I have directed actresses who have been both, and could see no difference."

Louise Lorraine, leading lady for Johnny Hines in "Chinatown Charlie" will appear opposite the comedian in "Big Business." It is said they are holding back, prepared to give all favorite sons a chance, and want to do nothing that will smack of the steam roller. They are keeping out of the vice-presidential fight.

Modern Cubist Motif Used to Trim This Coat

MARION DAVIES

The newest of today's sport coats are following the trend of modern decorative themes by going in for ultra-modernistic motives as trimmings.

This extremely chic coat of white basket weave material worn by Marion Davies, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, in "The Patsy," her newest film, is extremely plain, with its point of interest centered in the large patch pocket, appliqued in cubist design to peasant clothes.

A broad white kid belt is worn at the natural waist line.

Miss Davies carries out the modernistic decorative effect in the shoes that she wears with this coat. The shoes are of white kid with modernistic black stripes and black patent leather straps. White fashions the close-fitting skirt.

was said to be the first time on record that the same actress has played in two Hines comedies in succession.

LOVE CAUSES YOUTH TO DIM CITY LIGHTS

VIENNA, June 21.—(U.P.)—The love-light which burned in a Viennese maiden's eyes at the sight of a uniform was discovered to be the reason why 50 complaints of darkness reached the first-aid department of the local electrical works within three days.

Since all the complaints came from one small district where the whole of the electrical equipment had been carefully repaired only a few weeks previous the inspector of the electrical works surmised that someone was tampering with the wires.

He at once requested the police to arrest every electrician who appeared in the neighborhood without a special order signed in person by him.

A few hours after this step was taken the police held a young man in the uniform of a city electrician as he began to tinker with one of the street transformers.

In the police-station this young man confessed that he had caused all of the short circuits in an heroic effort to appear important in the eyes of his best girl.

The young miss had promised to marry him as soon as he obtained a position where he would be entitled to wear a uniform. Since he was only a store clerk he could think of no other way to win her except that of buying himself an electrician's uniform. And then in order to prove to her that he was bona-fide he took her with him so that she might see him really at work.

FIREMEN WIN COMMERCIAL LEAGUE PENNANT

BANKERS LOSE TO FIREMEN BY SCORE OF 15-9

Winning from the Mechanics bank team by a score of 15 to 9, the Richmond Firemen last night won the championship of the City Commercial League. The Firemen ended the season with eight wins and only one loss.

The game, last night, was a walkaway for the Firemen. They got 15 hits from Fleischer who twirled for the Bankers and scored as many runs. Fleischer walked four men and failed to fan any.

Key started on the mound for the Firemen and after he fanned one, walked one and allowed six hits, Dick Paasch stepped into the box and held the Bankers to four hits for the rest of the game, fanned four and hit one.

The Mechanics staged a rally in the third inning and it looked as though they would never finish running around the bases. Six runs, they garnered but Paasch finally stopped them and two runs more in the next inning completed their trips around the bases.

It was a successful league, all the teams playing as though they enjoyed the game. In all probability, another league will be organized for the remainder of the summer, as there is too much baseball weather to be wasted.

ADAMS TAKES BRAZELTON IN CERRITO TILT

Billy Adams of San Francisco won a ten-round decision from George Brazelton of the same city in Joseph Rossi's main event in the El Cerrito pavilion last night. Billy was too good for George throughout the fight, but the gameness of Brazelton in standing up under the blows and especially three apparent fouls in the sixth, won a number of fans to his side. Both weighed in at 152 pounds.

In the semi-main event, in which there was more footwork than glove-work, Chipmunk Miller of Richmond won a decision over Manuel Vasquez of San Francisco.

The fight of the evening was the curtain raiser between Tim Daley of Berkeley and Tony Oliver of Oakland. The boys fought a slugging match from start to finish which ended in a draw.

The second bout was poor owing to the unevenness of the men. Billy Limer of Oakland outweighed Walter Manolo of Oakland by 12 pounds, which meant much, as Manolo weighed only 109, but was a game fighter. The fight ended in a draw after four rounds.

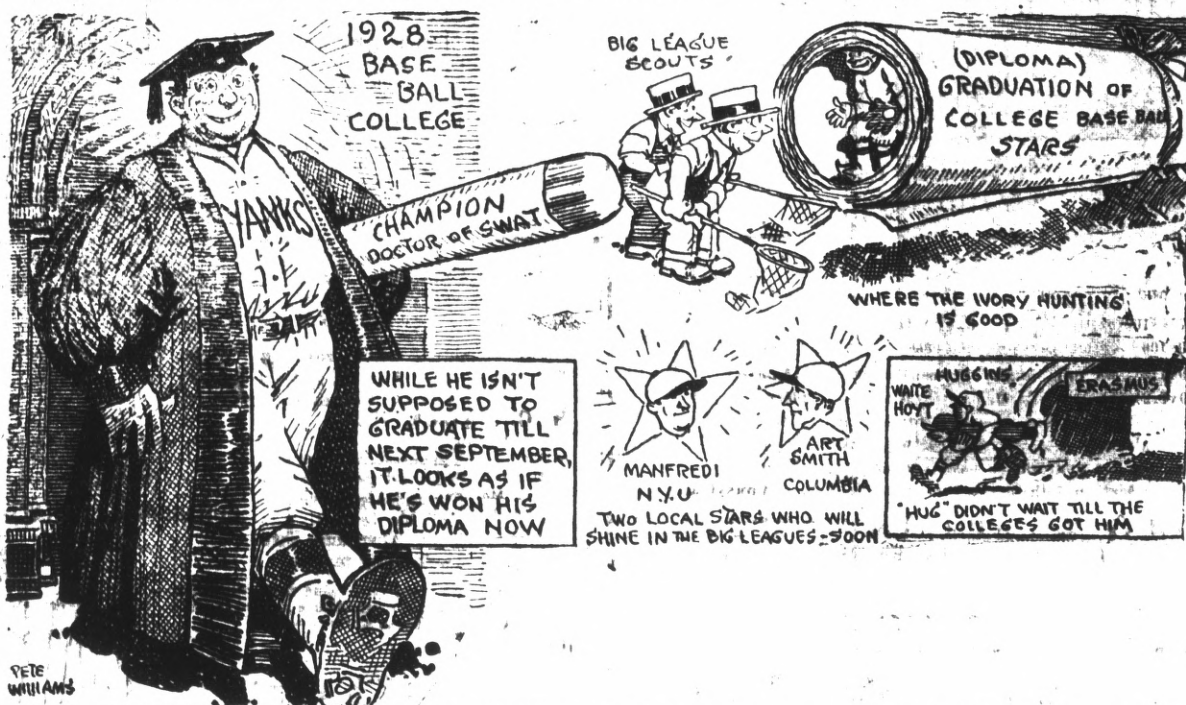

Pedro Torres of Panama and Bobby Steele of Oakland fought a sixteen round draw that wasn't a bad fight.

Channel Swim Season Vies With Olympic

BY ROBERT C. DOWSON

DOVER, Eng., June 21.—(U.P.)—The numerous feasts of first class, international sport on terra firma throughout Europe are detracting nothing from the glories of the channel swimming season, now getting under way here.

The Olympic Games, the Tail-team Games, the Wimbledon tennis championships, and the elating of Americans and British Olympic athletes in London are giving European sport fans the greatest show in sporting history, but the hardy annual channel swimmers turn up for their share of the limelight just the same.

Hotel proprietors, motor-launch and automobile owners here have their plans all made for reaping a rich harvest from prospective conquerors of the channel, newspaper organizations, and movie outfit. Bill Smith, hiring a motor launch for a pleasure trip with a vacation, gets out at a very reasonable figure, but Bill Smith, the journalist, photographer or movie-maker, needs a fat check book when he follows a channel swimmer in the same launch.

The Dover corporation have again had two special tents set up for Channel aspirants on the bathing beach, and every day numbers of amateur photographers and autograph hunters are busy taking snapshots of their heroes and heroines, and getting their signatures.

Hopes were entertained here that a great race across the channel, from Dover to France, between women of the United States, Britain, France, and Norway, would be organized but so far there are no signs of these hopes materializing.

There is still plenty of time for contest to be arranged for the records show that all successful attempts on the tides and currents of the English Channel have been made in August and September, while last year Miss Mercedes Gleitze, the London typist, and Mrs. Ivy Gill, of Sheffield, claimed to have beaten the elements in chilly October.

Bancitaly Reaches New Low Mark

Speculation on the San Francisco stock and curb exchange carried stock of the Bancitaly corporation to a new low for the year yesterday.

War, Sports Held Bad Influence To Youth Of France

PARIS, June 22.—(U.P.)—War, sports and the American films have practically killed the old-time courtesy among young Frenchmen, according to Municipal Councillor Fernand Laurent.

"When the present generation was twelve years old the fathers were at the front and the children were allowed to do as they pleased. We now see the results," said the councillor. "After the war they saw the newly rich and the profiteers and came to the conclusion that brutality was all that was necessary."

"Then look at these Wild West films with bandits brandishing revolvers, shouting 'Hands up!' Brutality again. With all that, there is the modern fashion of exercising the muscle as if everything dependent on that. The young men of today have no time for good manners."

BOBBY JONES SHOWS WELL IN CHICAGO GOLF

By FRANK GETTY

United Press Sports Editor
OLYMPIA, ILL., June 22.—(U.P.)—One minute, golden afternoon sunshine bathed the pleasing vista of Olympia fields in its radiance, birds sang in the sweeping elms above the 18th green and Bobby Jones sank a long putt for his par to take the lead in the national open golf championship.

The next, harling, out of the thunder clouds from the east came the deluge. Rain slashed down upon the course in sheets. Trust bent double before the furious storm. The chances of Bobby's contenders who had yet to finish their second round were swept away. Thus even the elements took a hand in bringing the stocky Atlanta to the fore in his fight to win his third open title.

Bob shot par golf for a 71 today, marvelous recoveries on the inside nine offsetting a decided wildness from the tee.

After Jones had finished, number 4 course at Olympia fields became in spots a quagmire.

Some of the greens were under water, so that late starters had to play chip shots into the cup, the use of floaters in such an emergency being barred.

Yet such is the fighting spirit of Walter Hagen, who remains the real menace to a victory for Bobby Jones, that "The Hag" went out after the storm had abated and clocked off four birdies to come home on the second nine four under par.

Absence Of Land At Pole Discounted

PARIS, June 21.—(U.P.)—Defenders of Jules Verne, the famous scientific novelist, refuse to accept the word of Captain Wilkins, the Australian aviator, that there is no land at the North Pole. Jules Verne affirmed there is. Admiral Peary, the first man who trod in the top of the world, said there

Eli Triumphs Over Harvard In Crew Meet

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 22.—(U.P.)—Yale triumphed over Harvard in decisive fashion in the annual varsity boat race rowed through the heavy mists of the Thames river here this afternoon.

Nine boat lengths separated a still stronger, hard-rowing Yale shell from the struggling Harvard crew at the finish line.

The teams got away on even terms, but by the time the shells had covered two miles of the four mile course, Yale had forged ahead.

Through the third mile first a length then two and finally three lengths, measured the Yale lead. Harvard in the final mile, made a valiant effort, but Yale was so far better a crew that it was able to gain steadily, with a strong even stroke, which was rowed for a time above 40 and then dropped back to that figure.

In the final half mile Yale steadily increased its lead. Two hundred yards from the finish line six lengths separated the shells. As they crossed, Yale was nine lengths in the lead and Harvard was just a boat load of exhausted men, trying to pull on oars.

The official time was: Yale 20 minutes 31 3-10ths seconds.

is and that he saw it. So did Amundsen. If there is nothing but ice and snow at the pole, ask the friends of Jules Verne, what do the thousands of migratory birds who go there periodically find when they get there?

YOUTH LEADS FIRST DAY OF OLYMPIC GOLF

OLYMPIA, ILL., June 22.—(U.P.)—A young Italian-American with the characteristics of a Connecticut Yankee and a naturalized Englishman who is acquiring a Dixie accent down in Georgia, led the field of 142 starters in the 32nd national open golf championship at Olympia Fields today.

This hot, sunny day was indeed a day for dark horses, with Al Cluci, 21-year-old Stratford, Connecticut, professional, and Frank Ball, who learned his golf on the famous course at Hoylake, England, near his home, had for the lead, with 70 strokes apiece.

These two alone broke par over the championship No. 4 course, which the favorites found too difficult for their accustomed wizardry with wood and iron in the opening round.

At their heels came another dark horse, Leonard Schmutte, a Hoosier who hails from Lima, O., with 71.

Of the outstanding favorites, Bobby Jones of Atlanta, still rated a 5 to 1 choice, to capture his third open title, was best with a 73.

Both Cluci and Ball come from famous golfing families. There are four dark haired, diminutive Cluci boys who learned their golf away down east and they all rank high at the royal and ancient pastime, while Ball, who is 38 years old, is a cousin of John Ball, one of the most noted of old time British professionals.

HUBBY SENDS MATE BACK TO GIRLS HOME

Because a young wife, who just would not take her marriage seriously, persisted in leaving the apartment "fire side" to "step out" with this one and that, she last evening found her self back in the detention home, whence she had once gained her release by promising to "love, honor and—behave."

The girl-wife, ultra-abbreviated "Mrs. A. B. C." and all was missing from her home last evening and the faithful husband found her at a dance. The young husband convinced that his persuasions would have no effect on the girl "turning her back" and probation officer T. A. Borer instructed Sheriff's deputies to deliver the girl back to the detention home, where she is now.

And so ended what had started out as an enjoyable evening for the girl and her numerous shelling dancing partners over whom a pall of gloom fell as she departed the party.

Elks Thanked By Veterans For Flag Gift

The United Veterans of the Republic made public a letter of thanks that was written to the Richmond Lodge of Elks, expressing their appreciation to the lodge for the flag received by them from the Elks. The letter is as follows:

Richmond, Calif., June 20, 1928. Richmond Lodge of Elks, Dear Sirs—Fellow Citizens:

We as a committee, the United Veterans of the Republic, have been appointed to extend to you our thanks for the beautiful flag that your noble order presented to us by your brother and our regular meeting held in Memorial hall last evening. We appreciate the spirit in which you gave it, knowing that it is more blessed to give than to receive. But the receiving of an emblem that stands for so much and all that is so dear to the hearts of such a noble order as yours we the six-service men can assure you that from the bottom of our hearts we surely feel grateful to your most loyal order for the flag of our great and glorious country for which we were in the ranks of the several armies that have made it loved and respected on the face of the earth. We are composed of ex-service men of all wars of the United States. We remain,

Respectfully,

THREE NABBED IN L. A. PROBE OVER MURDER

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—(U.P.)—Arrest of two men and a woman, previously mentioned in the murder of John I. Glad, wealthy Chicago druggist, was promised by police tonight as they declared solution of the slaying was imminent.

Detective Lieutenant James said the suspects had been under surveillance for several days.

Investigators pointed out that as many as ten people were not surprised when Glad was shot down in front of his home Monday night.

Summoned by police again today, Mrs. Marian Adams revealed that she had telephoned word of the murder to a man named "McKittick" or "McKenzie." She denied once more that she had called W. R. McIntire, former Los Angeles police officer, held as a material witness.

It was Mrs. Adams who told police that Glad had declared he might kill his wife and McIntire.

McIntire was dismissed from the department after Mrs. Glad, then Mrs. Hazel Belford, had shot him through the cheek at a party.

Girl Labor Is On Increase in Italy

ROME, June 22.—(U.P.)—Male child labor is on the decline in Italy according to statistics just published by the Ministry of National Economy, though on the other hand girl labor is increasing.

Lombardy, Piedmont, Venice and Central Italy industrial Italy boys employed are less than one third the girls. In Southern Italy, which is largely agricultural, considerably more boys are working than girls.

The average age for boys to go to work in Italy in workshops is from 13 to 14. The age for the admission of girls to labor is between 18 and 19. In the Venetian region, the average age for girls to enter employment is between 17 and 19.

Milan, Turin, Bergamo and Monza are the cities which show the highest percentage of female employment.

HOOVER WINS SUPPORT OF HAWAII CHIEF

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(U.P.)—An Hawaiian "Aloha" for Herbert Hoover was demonstrated today when James Winne, Republican National committeeman, decorated the Secretary of Commerce with the festive Lei, brought especially from Honolulu for the purpose.

The good will ceremony was incidental to a conference with the Secretary, which was attended also by Secretary Work and Delegate Victor Houston.

The Hawaiian officials also tendered leis to Mrs. Hoover, Senator Curtis, and Secretary Work. During a fifteen minute conversation, Secretary Hoover recalled his visit to Hawaii fifteen years ago and his friendship with old college mates now in the islands.

The Hawaiian visitors found the secretary keenly interested in Hawaiian affairs.

Winne came to Washington to sit in on the conferences of the national committee, and will remain several days. Houston leaves for San Francisco enroute to Honolulu Saturday.

Winne is confident that Hoover will capture the presidency. He also expressed enthusiasm concerning the work here of Delegate Houston, about whom he has heard favorable comment in all quarters.

Phone Company Aid Saves Life Of Winters' Lad

WINTERS, Calif., June 22.—In saving the life of William Valley, by prompt first-aid methods, when the 13 year old Oakland boy was apparently drowned, G. R. Mast, W. W. Hetherington, E. M. Dauch and Tom Borick linemen, recently demonstrated the value of instruction given to their plant department employees by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company. Putah Creek, the scene of the grim drama is located 11 miles north of this city.

While the linemen were proceeding in their truck along the road skirting Putah Creek, they were attracted by the frantic shouts and signals of a small girl. Told of William's plight, Mast, the head lineman, seized the first-aid kit, with which every telephone company truck is equipped, and with his companions rushed to the water's edge.

At the foot of a steep bank the linemen found Mrs. Earl Carter, of Oakland, holding her nephew, his head barely out of the water and apparently dead. She had been unable to get him up on solid ground. Hetherington carried the inert form to a level spot, and started artificial respiration.

Mast returned to the truck, hooked up a hose to a near by telephone line and called a doctor. Jack Leonard, the boy's clothing, applied an ammonia inhalant and rubbed his legs to start circulation. Borick brought warm covering from an adjacent tent.

Artificial respiration was carried on for half an hour before Williams exhibited signs of life. When sufficiently recovered to be moved, the men carried him to a tent, removed his clothing and continued treatment until Dr. Thomas Cooper, of Davis, arrived. After an inspection the doctor pronounced the boy out of danger.

The Community or Nation which develops the most drain power and inventive genius will be the most prosperous.

Courage Found By Eating Hearts Of Tigers In China

HARBIN, June 22.—(U.P.)—Tigers are keeping the wolves away from the doors of many a big game hunter here.

Calculated in Manchurian fashion a pound of tiger fetched something like four dollars this season, bringing the value of a full grown specimen to $2000 to $2500.

It must be explained that apart from its pelt, each part of the tiger's body has its own value, the Chinese attributing to them many medical and magical properties.

The most valued parts are the heart, blood, brains and bones. The heart is eaten is believed to instill bravery and is often served at warlord's table. The possession of a tiger's moustach bristle on the other hand makes one irresistible to the fair sex.

Smith Is Mum On Party Plank

ALBANY, N. Y., June 22.—(U.P.)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, will have nothing more to say regarding his party's platform until the convention is over, he said here tonight.

"I said all I had to say yesterday," the governor told newspapermen who asked if it were true that he would instruct his managers at Houston to fight for a wet plank in the Democratic platform.

His statement of Thursday said that he had not changed his mind about prohibition.

Smith went to the executive mansion from the train immediately on arrival and tonight was engaged with a secretary clearing up accumulated correspondence and office routine.

Mrs. John A. Warner, the governor's daughter, and her husband met the governor at the train.
